Electrolysis has been little investigated, but now demands greater attention, as it appears that stray currents in damp soil may endanger buildings as well as the pipes under the street.
Experiments by A. A. Knudson, a New York engineer, at least go to show that the metal embedded in reinforced concrete is not as perfectly protected against corrosion, as has been supposed. The tests were made on blocks of Portland cement sand concrete three years old, and on blocks of Ro-sendale cement thirty days' old, a piece of two-inch wrought-iron pipe being embedded in each block to a depth of eight inches. Blocks kept thirty days in unelectrified sea-water remained in perfect condition, the iron continuing quite bright. Exposed to an electric current in sea-water and in fresh water, blocks of the older concrete became badly cracked, were easily broken, and the pipes were much corroded, and blocks of the newer concrete showed cracks as early as the sixth day.

The tree tree of Western Australia, growing to a height of 100 feet, and a diameter of 2 1/2 to 3 feet, yields the strongest timber known. Late tests showed an average tensile strength of 24,000 pounds to the square inch, equal to that of cast iron, and some specimens resisted 17 1/2 tons to the square inch, equal to the tensile strength of wrought iron.

ficial leg that enables the animal to

Changes more extraordinary than have yet come from human invention are looked upon by Major B. F. S.
Raden-Powell as possible results soon to come from the flying machine.
Balloons, kites and flying machines are means by which man can now ascend into the air or send up instruments of investigation. The balloon is too cumbersome and delicate to be of wide application, yet it is useful as a scientific observatory and for reconnaissance in war. Great improvement has resulted from engines and propellers. The French government made the first dirigible airship 25 years ago, and now it has at least one that seems a practical air vessel of war. In Germany Count Zeppelin has produced a machine that beats all records in size and speed. At the other extreme in size are tiny balloons carrying only self-recording instruments, and these have ascended to 82,000 feet, nearly 16 miles. Kites also have proven useful to the meteorologist. Improved models, retained by wires, now lift instruments four miles, and in large size, have been regularly introduced into military service. Men were first raised from the ground at Aldershot in 1895, while in late experiments a height of 3000 feet has been reached, the kite-rider virtually disappearing from view.
The flying machine was an impossibility not long ago, but within two or three years has been so developed that experimenters have sustained themselves in air for half an hour at a time. Little remains to do ere man will have conquered the air.

For his curious theory that baldness is due to lack of upper chest breathing, Dr. Delos M. Parker, of the Detroit college of medicine, claims certification by thousands of observations during many years. No victim of common baldness was found who breathed properly. The lungs being imperfectly filled and emptied and emptied, it is supposed that residual air is left in the upper passages and develops a soluble poison. This poison specially affects the scalp, where the skin is practically blood-less, and therefore of low vitality.
Persistent return to correct breathing has been followed by disappearance of dandruff in one week and beginning of a new growth of hair in six weeks, and a fresh covering has been developed even on a head that had been bald twenty years.

The Warwick air-purifier, a new device for sterilizing the atmosphere, has been tried with such success in the refrigerating room of an English brewery that 950, per cent of the organisms in the outside air were filtered out. Only a few moulds passed, all yeast and bacteria being removed. The apparatus tested was about four feet high and three feet square in section, and 2,000 cubic feet of air per hour was passed through its trays. The trays—eleven in number—are of metal, as wide as the box containing them, but not so deep.
The first tray is pushed to the back, leaving a small space in front leading to the tray below, the next is placed forward, leaving the vacant space at the back, and so on through the series. Acting as baffles, the trays compel the air to flow over a relatively large surface. The inlet has a skeleton drawer fitted with muslin screen to catch the larger particles, and the metal trays contain a layer of glycerine to arrest the organisms with a little powdered sulphite of sodium sprinkled over it to prevent their development.

In 27 years Dr. J. Hirschberg, a German oculist, has used the magnet in 347 operations for removing particles from the eye. In the eight years ending 1930, he performed the operation 64 times, securing good and permanent vision in 36 cases. In nine of the 36 cases the bit of iron was removed from the vitreous, in 27 from the retina; 22 were fresh cases and 14 were old. In 22 of the 64 cases the injured eye had to be taken out, the iron pieces being large or blood-poisoning following the injury. In four cases the magnet failed to remove the particles.

A new electric furnace for determining the fusion points of refractory substances, has been constructed at Hanau by W. C. Heraeus. Its essential part is a tube of iridium four-fifths of an inch thick and an inch and three-fifths in diameter, and in this temperatures between 1500
deg. and 2000 deg. C. can be maintained any desired length of time.

Butler Tells of the Hold-Up.
The Plymouth Driver Tells of His Adventure with the Robber.

(Sacramento Bee, April 25.)
The news of the hold-up of the Plymouth stage yesterday morning, drew a small-sized crowd to the Old Pavilion stables last evening to await the arrival of the vehicle, and a personal relation of his experience by the driver, William Butler. In the crowd were several old mountain men who had been passengers on the stage a day or two previous on its way to this city, and who were as anxious as anyone else to hear Bill relate his adventure with the highwayman.

Mountain Men on Hand.
They were quiet, self-retained old fellows, these men of the hills, and every word they uttered bore weight.
"There are fellows up in those hills who would stick a man up for 50 cents if they thought he had it," said one of the Plymouth men, "Yes, and they would shoot to get the money if they were dry," he added,
"but I bet they did not get much the best of Bill Butler just the same.
Just wait and hear what he has to say." It was a few minutes after 5 o'clock when the dusty, weather-worn vehicle dashed into the stable, and the team brought to a stop with a jerk. There was a broad grin on the face of the driver as he saw so many of his fellow mountain men awaiting his arrival.

Butler is a young man, perhaps 25 years of age, quick and alert in all his movements, bronzed by the winds and storms of his native hills, and possessing a quiet, self-possession that belied his exaggerated assertion of the fear he felt when facing the muzzle of the robber's pistol. The quiet twinkle in the eyes of the mountain men who had known the young fellow from his infancy, as he told of the fear, plainly demonstrated how little they believed him capable of losing his presence of mind under any and all circumstances.

Gun Looked Big.
"Did I get held up?" said Butler, in answer to a query by one of the crowd, as hostlers and all gathered around the stage; "well rather, and you bet the gun that followed my every move for about ten minutes was about the greatest little old cannon I ever saw in all my life."

"Yes, I got held up all right, and I got quite confidential with the cuss before the thing was over. I have wandered at myself ever since that I dared to talk so saucy to him when he had the gun on me all the time, and all coked and ready for business."

"I left Plymouth about 7 o'clock, and swung down the canyon at a pretty lively clip. Just as I reached the foot of the grade and had crossed the bridge, I heard a voice sing out,
'Hey, there, you stop!'
"I looked around, and there was the cuss squatting by the side of the road near a pile of big rocks, and just inside the wire fence.

"He was partially behind a post, and so close to the ground that he was resting the barrel of his big revolver on the lower wire that was about two feet from the ground. He was squinting along that barrel at me. He did not look good, I can tell you that.

Thought It a Joke.
"At first, to tell the truth, I thought it was a joke that some of the fellows around Plymouth were attempting to play on me, but there was a business air about the fellow, and, just the same, I took no chances but jammed the brake on and brought the stage to a stop.
"Then the fellow said: 'Toss out that box.'
"What box?" said I.
The Wells-Fargo box," said he.
I ain't got no box," said I, 'but I got the mail, if you want that.'
I don't want no mail," said he.
'Don't you carry the express?'
'You bet I don't,' said I.
No Funny Breaks.
"Then he looked at me a minute, and said: 'Well, you get out on this side of that rig, and don't you make any funny break either, if you know what is good for you.'

"Look here, pardner, I can't get off on your side, for if I do, this team will run away."
"Well, you sit still and don't make any break, and I'll come to you," he said, and then keeping the gun pointed at me all the time, he rolled under the wire, jumped to his feet, came around the heads of the team, with his gun pointed at me all the time, and stopping a few feet from me on the side I was sitting said:
'Ain't you got no money at all?'
I said, 'Yes, a few dollars,' and he said, 'Fork it out.'
'So I pulls off my gloves just as careless as though I was alone, and reached down into my left trousers' pocket. I went deep, I tell you, and I gathered up $14.25 all in small change, passed it into my right hand and dropped it into his outstretched paw. He dropped a half-dollar into the dust, and, keeping the gun on me, reached down and picked it up.'
"Why didn't you soak him with the whip when he was bending down?" asked one of the bystanders.
"Hell, He Had a Gun."

"Soak him? Why, hell, he had a gun, and the business end of it was a-talking to me all the time in pretty plain language, retorted Butler."
"He was so close at the time, however, that I believe I could have hit him a pretty heavy clip with a club if I had one," he added. "But I guess it was just as well that did not have the club."

"Well, after he got the money, I said, 'Say, you ain't going to take all of it, are you? I need some of it for change on the road.'
"I need it at great deal more than you do," he answered, and then he stowed it away. "Then he said, 'Is that all the money you have?'
Saved Thirty-five Dollars.
"Looks like it," said I, but just the same, I had $35 in gold in my back pocket. Then I pulls out an empty purse that was in the same pocket with the gold, and shook it at him and said 'See that is empty and no good to you.'
"Then he made me turn out my front pockets to show him that I had nothing else of value in them, but he did not ask me to fool around my back pockets. Maybe he thought I had a gun there, and would get it into action with half a chance. But I did not have a gun, and he was out just thirty-five plunks in consequence.

Drive On.
"Then he said for me to drive on and not to look back. After I had got about seventy-five yards up the road, I looked back, all the same, and he was crawling under the wire fence in the same spot he came from. A funny thing about the whole thing was that I was not at all startled while talking to him, but after I got down the road a piece and I got thinking about the way he said, 'Toss out that box,' I sure got nervous."

"I drove pretty fast until I got to Vanderpool's ranch, so as to get some one to go back to Plymouth and give the alarm, but I could not raise anybody there, so I went on to Brown's.
There was no one there but Mrs.
Brown and she said that she was about to go to Plymouth with this fellow on the road. I don't know that I blame her. So I hurried on to Forest Home and telephoned back from there, giving a description of the fellow.

Describes the Robber.
"Yes, I had a pretty good description. He was about my height (5 foot 7 inches) and was heavier, weighing about 175 pounds, I guess. He wore a pair of well-worn brogans, a pair of overalls that had been washed, as they were somewhat faded, a black coat buttoned up close, and a broad-brimmed, black hat that could be sloshed down over his face.
"I could not see any of his face, because he had a red bandana handkerchief tied across it just under his eyes and this hid his face and hair.
It was tied up so close to his eyes that he did not have a slit over half an inch between it and the edge of his hat brim to look out of. I judged he was about 35 years old by his actions."

Could Trail in Dew.
"If I had time to go back and get the sheriff I know that we could have got him, for he came down out of the rocks through the long grass that was wet with dew, and I could have trailed him as fast as a horse could run.
Well, I got the sheriff and his deputy at Drytown after the fellow as quick as I could, and I have not heard whether they got him or not."

What is it that tastes as pleasant as maple sugar and quickly relieves coughs and colds? Mothers who have no opiates. Sold by F. W. Rubser.

Poisonous Weed Kills Sheep.
Hundreds of sheep on the ranges in the northern part of Nevada, are dying from the effects of eating a poisonous weed, which is quite rank in that section.
The sheep men state that veterinary surgeons are unable to successfully combat this disease and that they may be compelled to drive the sheep from the ranges.
The vegetation is in the form of a weed and grows thickly with the bunch grass. It has a dark green foliage and resembles other vegetation growing on the mountain sides.
When an animal eats any of this poisonous weed it is seized with pains and in a short time dies in spasms.

Wise and Otherwise.
Do your part to lift the whole race a notch in the scale of humanity—then, your heaven will take care of itself.
A genius is one who knows just how to conserve and increase the heat that generates in the stolen fires of intellect.
Some folks have brains that operate just like a sifter in a flour-mill—everything good goes on through and the trash stays behind.
Because you've never been in jail is no sign you are as good as John Bunyan.
A great many will court the friendship of an angel just to get to borrow his wings.
You can tell a self-made man the moment he hits a French menu card in an American cafe.
I often wonder about these professional loungers on our streets when there is so much manless land for the landless man.
Hold no ideas that are not possibilities. Otherwise, you are a dreamer—a builder of castles in the air.

THE NOW.
The charm of a love is its telling, the telling that goes with the giving;
The charm of a deed is its doing; the charm of a life is its living,
The soul of the thing is the thought;
the charm of the act is the actor;
The soul of the fact is its truth, and the now is its principal factor.
The world loves the now and the now-ist, and tests all assumptions with rigor,
It looks not behind it to failing, but
forward to ardent vigor;
It cares not for heroes who faltered, for martyrs who hustled and recanted,
For pictures that never were painted for harvests that never were planted.
The world does not care for a fragrance that never is lost in perfuming,
The world does not care for the chimes remaining unring by the ringer,
The world does not care for the songs unsung in the soul of the singer.
What use to mankind is a purpose that never shone forth in a deed?
What use have the world for a loving that never had winner nor wooer?
The motives, the hopes and the schemes that have ended in idle conclusions,
Are buried along with the failures,
that come in a life of illusions.
Away with the flimsy idea that life
with a past is attended; There's now—only now, and no part-there's never a past; it has ended.
Away with its obsolete story, and all of its yesterday sorrow; There's only to-day, almost gone, and in front of to-day stands to-morrow.
And hopes that are quenchless are sent us like loans from a generous lender,
Enriching us all in our efforts, yet making us poorer the sender; Lightening all of our labors, and thrilling us ever and ever With the ecstasy of success and the raptures of present endeavor.
Eugene F. Ware.

If.
If every man were honest,
And every woman true,
And every one unselfish,
What could we people do?
We'd work but very little,
For we'd all get our due,
If every man were honest,
And every woman true.
We'd have no "erring brother"
To teach how to be right;
We'd yawn at one another
From morning until night;
And then—oh, sainted mother!
We'd all pitch in and fight.
For if every man were honest,
And every woman true,
The world would be most dismal
And everybody blue.
Oh, how we'd hate each other!
For I'd be just like you,
If every man were honest,
And every woman true.

Rest is the great restorer. We tire our muscles by exercise and then rest to restore them; yet a great many of us do not stop to think how little rest we give to our stomachs. As a usual thing no part of our bodies is so generally overworked as our digestive organs. A tired and overworked stomach will give signs of distress to which we pay no heed until at last dyspepsia takes hold. Indigestion is just a warning, and if we heed the warning we can easily avoid further consequences. Kodol is a most thorough stomach relief. It digests what you eat and gives the stomach the needed rest and greatly assists in restoring it to its normal activity and usefulness. Kodol is sold on a guarantee relief plan. It is sold here by F. W. Rubser.

His Great Nose.
There was a certain excelsman in Shreveport who was very trim and neat in his attire, but who had a bottle nose of more than usual size. As he passed through the school lane the boys used to call him "Nosey," and this made him so angry that he complained to Dr. Butler, who sympathized and sent for the head boy, to whom he gave strict injunctions that the boys should not say "Nosey" any more.
Next day, however, the excelsman reappeared, even more angry than before. It seems that not a boy had said "Nosey," but that as soon as he was seen coming the boys ranged themselves in two lines, through which he must pass, and all fixed their eyes intently upon his nose. Again Dr. Butler summoned the head boy and spoke more sharply. "You have no business," said he, "to annoy a man who is passing through the school on his lawful occupation. Don't look at him." But again the excelsman returned to Dr.
Butler, furious with indignation, for this time, as soon as he was seen, every boy had covered his face with his hand until he had gone by—"Life and Letters of Dr. Samuel Butler."

Didn't Like Taxes.
Cases against George Washington appear here and there in old documents.
No less than three claims were entered against him during the year 1787 to compel him to pay taxes. The humorous clerk, commenting on these actions, remarked, "George Washington, Esq., appeareth not to like taxes."

of last month. A crew of men were set at work Thursday. There is a good prospect of the Lucas resuming active operations in the near future.— Chronicle.

Our advices from Angels up to the time of going to press Friday, are to the effect that there is no material change in the strike situation. The miners have held several meetings but nothing is known of the proceedings. Word was received in Angles that owing to the settlement of the Goldfield strike, 500 miners were waived there at once. A large number of the striking miners started to go to the Nevada camp, but were stopped by the Union at the railroad station, and informed that they must remain in Angles for thirty days.
Superintendent Martin has received instructions from below empowering him to make any settlement by which he can run the mine without going into debt, out he says that it is impossible to do this on an eight hour basis. Everything is quiet. No work is being done in any of the mines, and the men show no disposition to be disorderly.—Prospect.

Professor J. Buck, the veteran penmanship teacher passed away in Oroville, Butte county, Saturday last as a result of an attack of pneumonia.
Professor Buck came to California fifty years ago and for nearly all that time has wandered over the state teaching penmanship to the young people of the cities, towns and hamlets where he called. He would drop into a town, put a small advertisement in the local papers, and he never failed to secure school pupils for many of the mothers and fathers, grandmothers and grandfathers of his later day pupils had been guided in the ways of making graceful curves by the hand of the aged master of the no almost lost art. At one time Buck was a professor in the Chico Normal school, but wanderlust had long ago claimed him for her own, and he loved the roaming life too well to remain long in one place. Professor Buck has visited this place a number of times in the years gone by where he always had large classes, the editor of this paper having been one of his pupils.—Calaveras Chronicle.

Order of British Titles.
They had been talking about an English marquis and the position he held among his titled aristocracy.
"I didn't know a marquis ranked so high," said the girl in white.
"Dear me!" said an Englishman.
"Didn't you? Why, a marquis ranks next to a duke."
He paused to sip his tea and take a foie gras sandwich.
"Marquess, not marquis," he went on, "is the more accurate use of the word. It is so spelled and pronounced in Burke. Shall I tell you the degrees of the English aristocracy? The knowledge may be useful to you when you come to contract an international alliance, eh?"
"After royalty come dukes. After dukes come marquises, then earls, viscounts, barons, baronets and knights.
I don't mention lords. A lord is an earl—the Earl of Craven, for instance, is often called Lord Craven—or else the title is only the courtesy one according to the younger sons of dukes.—

The Parrot Fish.
There are water parrots as well as land parrots. The parrot fish come from the tropics, are brilliantly colored and have beaks something like those of the parrot, for use in breaking off the coral shell in order to get at the living polyp. Not all of them, however, live on animal food, some species being herbivorous. One species is found in the Mediterranean sea, where it has been known for thousands of years. The Greeks and Romans regarded it for a time as the first of fishes, and Pliny tells us how it was introduced into the Italian sea in the course of the reign of Claudius. It was known as the "scarus" by the ancients, who told some wonderful stories about its love, its wisdom and its ruminations. Some having a length of sixteen inches have been captured alive.

Dubuque's Seal.
On the city seal of Dubuque, Ia., appear the words "La petite nuit," and strangers are always puzzled by them.
Why should Dubuque be called "the little night?" It is explained that the place originally was settled by an old miner named Dubuque. When the Indians granted certain lands to Dubuque the document was drawn up in French in Prairie du Chien. The clerk who did the work believed that "la petite nuit" meant "the old miner," and the mistake has perpetuated a phrase which, however pretty, has no significance in its present connection.

Too Much of a Joke.

A harmless practical joke is generally appreciated, but when the joke is carried to the extreme of personal unpleasantness, it becomes a dangerous pastime. Indeed, this sort of fun is fraught with danger under any circumstances. A case in point occurred on the I. and E. railroad early this week on the passenger train. Names need not be mentioned, but the parties are so well-known, and the matter has been so widely talked about that we feel the item should not be entirely ignored.

Last Sunday the afternoon train on the I. & E. was well filled with passengers coming to their homes. There were a number of prominent gentlemen, also ladies and children aboard. Just out of town one party entered a side room on the car. The opportunity of a joke entered the other's mind.

The instant the other saw his friend out of sight he closed the door on the victim, the door had a clasp on the outside, and this the tormentor pushed in—looked the door in fact; it was a temptation to strong to resist.

No doubt many noticed what had been done, but for some cause remained silent, probably reasoning that to release the prisoner would mean trouble for an innocent party. After some minutes had passed one gentleman said "Let him out," but without avail. The train travels slowly and somewhere near Miller's or Kerr's station, a passenger went to the room and unlocked the door. The joker had gone to the rear platform and remained there. As soon as the lock was sprung giving the victim his freedom, out he came and walked down the aisle toward the end of the car. His face white, and he was thoroughly angry. Instinctively he knew who was at the bottom of his temporary imprisonment, as he reached the door he noticed the one on the outer platform and said emphatically "did you do that?" Instantly the passengers were in excitement, and being they realized what was being done, the two principals were engaged in a scuffle. Men rushed to the rear expecting to see both fall to the track below. Indeed, when the conductor arrived and separated them there was great danger in this respect.

As soon as they were parted each took a seat on the car steps, back to back, and remained there until Martelli was reached. Both men took the stage to their respective homes. No further trouble arose and when they came to Jackson the following day neither showed marks of the trouble. The details have spread far and wide, more on account of the standing of the principals than

MORE LOCALS.

It is the custom at Electra to make an examination of the wheels once a day as a necessary precaution. While so doing the person in charge of that class of work, found a bucket on one of the new wheels broken at the point where it is fastened to the rim last Monday. As it was dangerous to operate that particular dynamo, it was therefor closed down until the necessary repairs could be made. A new bucket came up by express last evening, and as the strike in the machine shops in the city prevented the company from having the bolt holes bored out, the bucket was given to the Garbarini Bros. to complete. They worked all of last night to finish the job. The bucket is an unwieldy piece of steel, weighing 392 pounds, and measures 26x26 inches. The dynamo which is attached to this wheel is of 5,000 kilo-watts, and its idleness each day means a considerable loss to the company.

The Methodist Sunday school will give a picnic at Schober's Grove just south of town to-morrow. All are welcome. Games, athletic sports, baseball, etc., will enliven the day, and a delightful time is expected. Bring your lunch and have a jolly time.

Where New England Is Pre-eminent. From the standpoint of mental ethnology New England is as different from the rest of the United States as Brittany or Provence from the rest of France, Piedmont from the rest of Italy, Bavaria from the rest of Germany. Those features the existence of which can be scientifically proved and the extent of which can be readily measured are a high birth rate of genius, a passion for reading, a high divorce rate, a low natality, a high death rate from diseases of the nervous system. The correlation between some of these traits is obvious. Between others it is obscure. But we must remember that mental ethnology is a science born yesterday. Today it gathers facts. Tomorrow it will compare these and from them derive laws.—Gustave Michaud in Putnam's Monthly.

"Sing a Song of Sixpence." The old nursery rhyme of "Sing a Song of Sixpence" is an ancient allegory and a very pretty one. The earth is represented by the bottom of the pie, while the sky is the upper crust. The clouds are the clothes which the maid who is daybreak is hanging on the line before the king or sun is up. The money with the "king" counts in his coming home are the sunbeams which slip through the sun's fingers. The blackbird, which nips off the maid's nose so unceremoniously and thus ends the song, is the sunset or end of day. The moon and moonbeams are represented by the queen and her honey, and thus we have the whole day amply accounted for.

The Fee Simple. Patrick Murphy, while passing down Tremont street, was hit on the head by a brick which fell from a building in process of construction. One of the first things he did after being taken home and put to bed was to send for a lawyer. A few days later he received word to call, as his lawyer had settled the case. He called and received five crisp new $100 bills.

"How much did you get?" he asked. "Two thousand dollars," answered the lawyer. "Two thousand, and you give me $500? Say, you got hit by that brick, you or me?"—Boston Herald.

AMADOR.

J. Davis arrived here Monday to take charge of the keystone mine. Mr. and Mrs. K. Culbert were visitors here Tuesday night.

Mr. Fitzsimmons returned to this place Saturday night.

A number of the young folks attended the dance in Sutter Creek on the 24th.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pearce left for Sacramento Wednesday morning.

A birthday party in the form of a picnic was given Miss Lucy Chichizola in honor of her tenth birthday Saturday. A number of children from Jackson and Sutter Creek attended, in all they numbered thirty-five.

The band gave a concert Saturday night, and everyone you meet has a smiling face ever since.

A number of Sutter youngsters, thinking the Amador people too slow, took it upon themselves to give Mrs. Sidney Bennetts a surprise party Saturday night. When they met before starting for Mrs. Bennetts' place, they found they had more boys than girls, so invited a few Amador girls when they arrived here. The Amador boys think it real mean they were not invited. Inquirer.

April 28.—News this week is as scarce as white headed Indians. Gossip in a sense must take the place of actual news.

George Newell of Pleasant valley, is here in our midst for a while.

Mrs. Chet Perry, who has been at the old homestead since a few days after the earthquake in San Francisco more than a year ago, is to leave these parts for a permanent stay with her children now of Los Angeles.

George Dillion and his brother-in-law, Otis Harrell, started for Sacramento this morning with teams to move the remaining household belongings of the Mill's family.

The mine on the Nichley homestead is now sinking their shaft deeper. They are pushing the work night and day. A Mr. Lunkey, a mining man from Nevada, is, as I understand, the sole operator of the mine. Already there is quite a travel to and from the mine. The grass has disappeared over the once grassy road leading into the mine, and it is becoming warm and dusty. So much for patronage and traffic.

If I should dig up a skeleton next week I will write you about it. Giddy Dick.

LOCAL NEWS

M. L. Smith, Notary Public, and Stenographer, office Marella Bldg., Court street; telephone No. 413.

On Sunday last a party consisting of Mrs. Geo. I. Wright, Miss Emma Boardman, and Messrs. Jas. Jay and Fred W. Wright, spent a pleasant holiday at El Estero, seeing the sights and enjoying the scenic beauties of this ever popular picnic resort. A lunch under the trees was a feature of the day that was highly appreciated, and later the party were shown the wonders of the plant, under the guidance and courtesy of John Fontenrose.

Mrs. Francis E. Moore died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. M. L. B. Grainger, in Placerville, April 29th. Mrs. Moore was a pioneer resident of Amador county, having lived for many years at Shenandoah valley in that county. Five children survive her: Mrs. M. B. L. Grainger and Wm. Moore, both well-known school teachers of El Dorado county; George F. Moore, of Stockton; J. H. and C. Ryason Moore, of Amador county. Mrs. Moore's funeral took place today at her old home in Shenandoah valley.

Mrs. Geo. I. Wright, of Oakland, wife of Geo. I. Wright, formerly of Jackson, but now at Goldfield, Nev., spent a month in Jackson with her son, Jay Wright, leaving for her home in Oakland Tuesday. She was accompanied here by her other son, Fred W. Wright, who remained to assist his brother in closing up his work preparatory to his departure for Nevada.

For Sale.—Heiser's Candy Factory, a well established and money-making business. Cheap for cash. Good reasons for selling.

The insurance business carried on for many years by Mrs. L. J. Fontenrose has been transferred to C. L. Culbert. Her abstract business she retains and will be conducted by herself in the future.

Dr. Gail has two typhoid fever cases on his hands, Frank Francisco and Pete Terrelli. Both are on the road to recovery.

H. P. Vogt, who met with a serious accident several weeks ago, is improving rapidly, and will be able to sit up in a few days.

Carl C. Jensen, optician, has visited Amador county for the past ten years. He comes well recommended. Reserve your orders for him. He can suit you. Will be here early in May.

A marriage license, was issued in Sacramento April 28th, to Lee Phillips of Ione and Lizzie J. Volt of Oleta.

Miss Gwennie Williams returned to Oakland Sunday, after a week's visit with her mother, Mrs. R. Williams of this city.

Mrs. Theo. Crocker returned from San Francisco Sunday. Mr. Crocker has gone to Warden, Nevada, where he intends to engage in business.

Urban Spagnoli returned to Oakland Saturday, after a few days' visit with relatives in this city.

Sol Stockler, son of Charles Stockler, and one of Jackson's merchants of some thirty years ago, is visiting the scene of his childhood. Since arriving at manhood he has been in government employ as a cook and expects to shortly follow the same business in Tonopah. While here he is also looking into any rights which his father may have had at the time of his death in the Stockler quartz mine within the city limits.

Carl C. Jensen, the expert optician of Chico, informs his old patrons and all who wish to have their eyes properly fitted with glasses, that he will be in Jackson the first part of May. All orders left with J. H. Langhorst, watchmaker, will be promptly attended to.

Arthur Roberts and John Glavich left last Monday morning for Tonopah, the first named to join his brother, who has been in that place for some months.

Messrs. Hawley and Patterson of Portland, Oregon, were in Jackson the latter part of last week. They follow the business of treating tailings from chlorination works and mills. It had been represented to them that this part of the state was rich in chlorination dumps, and a good field for the cyanide process.

So they made a personal inspection of the county and finding that gross misrepresentations had been made to them left last Sunday for other parts.

J. L. Fontenrose and wife left Sunday for San Francisco, where they intend to make their home in future. Mr. Fontenrose has secured a position as clerk in the London, Liverpool & Globe Insurance Company.

Fresh stock of wall paper, complete line, all new designs at V. Giovannoni & Co.

W. F. Detert left Sunday morning for San Francisco, to be absent a few days. He returned yesterday.

Miss Fullen has returned with a complete line of trimmed and ready-to-wear hats. Will handle them at Jackson Shoe Store.

M. H. McGary departed for Nevada Sunday on a visit to the mining camps of the southern part of the state. He expects to return in a week, but thereafter will go for a more extended trip. He is very enthusiastic over the mining outlook of Nevada.

Over twenty passengers from Jackson were on the I. and E. train Sunday.

During Saturday night of last week night watchman Parker observed a man crouching at the end of the bridge near the lumber yard on the south fork, and acting in a suspicious manner. He woke up a former deputy sheriff, and both went to the alley awaiting further developments.

Presently James Moon appeared with a chicken under each arm, and upon questioning admitted to Parker that he had stolen them, but refused to say where. He was taken to the county jail. Monday morning he appeared before recorder Thompson and pleaded guilty to a charge of misdemeanor and was fined $5, or the alternative of spending ten days in the jail, choosing the latter punishment.

A. Caminetti returned from his trip to Mobile in time to attend one day's session of the Native Sons at Napa, and reached home last Saturday evening.

Ice cream at P. Canoe's every day, commencing April 27.

The members of the Jackson athletic club have been busy for several days clearing up a piece of land leased from Geo. Brown beyond the Zella mine, to be used as a ball ground during this season. On the opposite side of the road, everything pertaining to blue-rock shooting has been completed. The location is a good one and no doubt will be the scene of many contests. Last Sunday local base ball and rifle shooting were indulged in.

Fred Eudey severed his connection with the bank last Tuesday, and will also resign his position as city treasurer. He intends to visit relatives in Utah in the near future.

Matt Thomas of Middle Bar, was brought to town Tuesday last for medical treatment. He received a kick in his back some four weeks ago while at work, and has been confined to the house ever since. Improvement so far has been very slow.

Miss Mary Bernice gave a picnic to the scholars of her room in the Jackson school, at her home last Saturday. The children all appreciated their outing.

The Native Daughters of Ursula parlor will observe memorial day on Sunday afternoon next. Exercises in their hall, Odd Fellows building. All are invited.

E. S. Rust, son of the former editor of the Dispatch, is making an examination of some mining properties near town, and from here he will proceed to the counties south of us. He has done considerable traveling throughout the mining districts of the coast since leaving Jackson.

There was a gathering of Masons from all towns in this jurisdiction last Monday, to meet Grand Master Hart and Grand Lecturer Edwards, before whom the work of the order was exemplified. Remarks were made by the grand master and many of the members. After the ceremonies all repaired to the banquet hall, where a feast awaited them, to which all participated. Their own hall being too small the I. O. O. F. hall was used for the occasion, fully 200 guests and members being in attendance.

Phonograph selections furnished amusement. It was after 2 o'clock before the members dispersed for their homes.

J. F. Wilson, Dentist. Hours 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Phone—Office, black 144; residence, black 394; Jackson.

E. C. Floyd, editor of the Calaveras Prospect, paid this office a fraternal visit last Monday evening.

Miss Helen Staal, who has been visiting Mrs. P. Guerd of this city, left Sunday morning for her home in Oakland.

A. H. Grigsby, who overhauled the Simplex type-setting machine in the Ledger office a year ago, was in town early in the week, in the interest of a San Francisco type foundry.

Fred Le Moine, superintendent of the county hospital, returned home last Saturday, he being a delegate to the grand parlor of Native Sons which met at Napa.

Wm. Quintero, who has been in the employ of Gioacchino & Bro. for some time, has resigned his position and taken an interest in the saloon of Chas. Reynolds on Water street.

When you wish the finest flavored coffees and teas, remember that W. J. Nettle keeps only the best.

Having received a large consignment of extra choice olives, 75c per gal, or 20c qt. Call and try them. V. Giovannoni & Co.

Mrs. Pouteurose and J. J. Wright have been engaged for several weeks upon an abstract of the Arroyo Soco grant. It will include all transfers to large holders as well as to every lot and piece within the town of Ione. They expect to complete the work this week, and so far as we know it will be the most voluminous abstract ever turned out in this county, there being over 200 transfers on our records.

The Volcano stage commenced running on its summer schedule the first of the month, going up in the evening and returning the following morning.

Mrs. T. Conlon is engaged in taking the school census of Jackson. She reports a large falling off of children, but whether the number of teachers will remain as at present cannot be determined until her work is completed.

The small posts necessary for the bridge to be placed at the Ellis crossing on Jackson creek, are being made at Garbarini Bros. shop. That firm will erect the bridge doing all work, and proceed just as fast as conditions will permit.

Chris Marella is home for a few days visit.

Messrs. Brown and Caminetti have moved from the front room in Love's hall to the Brown building on Court street. The partnership continues the same and no line of business has been dropped on account of the change. Recorder Thompson, who has made his official home with them will try and join forces with some other officer.

Mrs. C. A. Herrick took her son, Emerson, to Stockton Saturday last for an examination, and any additional treatment which might be necessary in order to restore the usefulness of his arm injured some months ago. An X-ray apparatus proved that it was safe to remove the splints and no further trouble is expected.

Carlo Candini, who died in the county hospital last Monday of typhoid fever, had been here but a few days. He was employed by a lumber company in El Dorado county for four years, and had been paying a tax of $1 per month. He was looking for work around here, and being taken sick went to the hospital with the above result. When asked why he came to the hospital, replied in broken English, that he paid $1 per month, and thought that he was entitled to be taken care of. At any rate he was taken care of, and never rallied from the disease. Deceased leaves a wife and child in Italy.

The editor of the Ledger was a passenger Sunday morning for San Francisco, to be gone several days. The slim appearance of our editorial columns will be overlooked by our readers on this score.

A few months ago Mr. Ketchum of Amador county, moved to this town and bought what was known as the Hotweller place, one and one-half miles west of Woodbridge. He recently sold the same to C. H. Abbott at an advance of $500.—Stockton Record.

Dr. L. E. Phillips has given up his office in the Well building, and will hereafter have his office at his residence on the Hamilton tract, where he has just finished a building specially adapted for office purposes. The reason for this change is that his time is so taken up with outside practice, that it was seldom that he could be found at the office during office hours. He moved all furniture and fixtures last Saturday.

A Mexican miner employed at the Zella, drove the point of a pick into his right leg below the knee Wednesday afternoon. He applied to Dr. Endicott for treatment. The wound was of a trivial nature, and the man being toughy, the doctor could do nothing with him and was obliged to let him go.

The transformer at Stroh's brewery, which was damaged by lightning last winter has been replaced with a new one. The Ledger office was thus cut off from electrical power for a few hours last Wednesday.

Mrs. S. J. Worley of Drytown, mother of Fred Le Moine, is here on a visit to her son. She has been in poor health during the winter and is just able to be about.

A charming portrait was shown in Sunday's Call, April 28th of Mrs. Frederick Worthen Bradley, who is one of the popular young matrons of the city. Mrs. Bradley is tall and handsome, being dark with very beautiful brown eyes. Mr. Bradley has recently built a large house on Broadway, between Scott and Devadero streets, which is one of the handsomest homes in the city, and there Mrs. Bradley dispenses a delightful hospitality. She was recently the hostess at a large bridge party, at which the prizes were all exquisite bits of silver, cutglass or rare china, and lucky indeed did the fair guests who won these prizes consider themselves.

Mrs. Bradley possesses two handsome motors and may often be seen out in her car, as she is an ardent lover of the pursuit. Mrs. Bradley was formerly Miss Mary Parks of Jackson.

Of late early morning risers in Jackson have noticed a number of young men in athletic dress exercising by running. They take a spin around the country while the dew is yet on the grass for such benefits as that exercise affords. They are members of the local club and want to live up to its name.

Garden hose, lawn sprinklers, lawn mowers, rakes, hoes and spurs, in fact everything needed for lawn or garden at V. Giovannoni & Co.

Dr. B. H. Schacht leaves for Nevada in the morning. He goes first to San Francisco, and from there over the mountains to some point in that state, not yet decided upon, having formed a partnership with another doctor.

"Unjust criticism of the church," will be Rev. C. E. Winning's theme at the Methodist Episcopal church next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Seats free—all are welcome.

Death of an Old Volcanoite.

John Eckart, an old and respected citizen of Volcano, died Tuesday morning last about 9 o'clock. He was afflicted with complications incident to old age and heart disease, and had been under treatment for some months. He arose as usual on that day, and went down town. Returning home shortly he complained of not feeling well and expired in a few minutes. One of his daughters, Mrs. Dr. Roberts, was with him at the end. His other daughter, Mrs. McDonald, resides in Stockton. The body was embalmed and brought to Martells yesterday to be taken to San Francisco, where the funeral will be held. He will be laid to rest by the side of his wife, who died many years ago. Two sons also lie in the family plot. He came to Volcano some twenty-five years ago, shortly after the tunnel company commenced washing the extensive gravel deposit close to that town, and was its trusted superintendent until failing health compelled him to resign. He accumulated a fortune, estimated to be at least $20,000, and was always looked upon as a highly respected citizen.

Lee Kee Cheong is Sent to Ione Because of Incurability.

Alleging that contact with white boys had resulted in the corruption of her son and rendered him incurable, Chun Shee asked Judge Melvin of Oakland to commit her 13 year old son Lee Kee Cheong to the reform school at Ione. The boy's father, a leading Chinese merchant of San Francisco, was killed by the earthquake, and since then the mother has been unable to control him. She said that he had been taught to smoke cigarettes and opium and also to drink by the vicious white boys with whom he has associated, and that he frequently ran away from home and had to be brought back by the police.

Following Judge Melvin's order that the boy be sent to Ione until he became of age, Lee Kee Cheong shouted and kicked as he was dragged from the courtroom.

Quit Teaming.

The I. and E. after carrying on teaming since the operation of the road, has concluded to quit. The company has been delivering oil to the different mines near here, and finds the loss to be much more than it is willing to stand. So on May 1st that branch of the business came to an end. The horses will be given change to green grass for a short time, when it is probable that they will be taken over the mountains, to be used in connection with an electrical plant now in process of construction in Nevada. This change means that the various companies will be compelled to arrange with private teamsters for the delivery of oil, the same as for other kinds of freight. Those who have enjoyed a "soft" job in the employ of the railroad for many months past, must now go back to the old order of things.

An Open Letter.
To my friends and patrons in Jackson and Sutter Creek.
As much as I regret it, I find it absolutely necessary to discontinue traveling, as my chicken business demands my whole attention.

For this reason, I send you Mr. J. R. Jenkins to take my place, if it so pleases you.
I am sure, you will like his work as well as you did mine, as I have found him to be a conscientious A. No. 1 piano tuner, and furthermore a gentleman which I consider essential. Let these lines be my goodbye to you, and permit me to say, you have my deepest gratitude for the many kind acts received at your hands. Hoping to meet you again, I remain Very truly yours,
LOUIS SCHEMANN,
Sunnyvale, Cal.

April 26, 1907.

Mr. Jenkins will be in Jackson early in May. Orders should be left at this office or the postoffice, Jackson.

Condition Serious.

Robert Dufrene was in a serious condition early this week. It will be remembered that he had an operation performed by which a number of glands no the side of his neck were removed, made necessary by their diseased condition. He improved to such an extent that he was able to appear on the streets, and the treatment appeared to be permanent. At the beginning of April, the remaining glands on the neck, left untouched at the time of the operation, as well as those on the opposite side, commenced to give him trouble and were swollen to such an extent as to cause him much pain. The last two or three nights he has rested much easier, but is not yet out of danger.

Mrs. Varney Gaskill Dies.

Mrs. Varney W. Gaskill died at East Bay sanatorium April 26th, after a long illness. Mrs. Gaskill was a member of one of Oakland's oldest families. Her husband is well known in business circles in San Francisco and Oakland. He is chairman of the board of trustees of Piedmont, where the Gaskills recently built a home.

Besides her husband Mrs. Gaskill's mother, Mrs. L. H. Porter, and a sister, Mrs. George M. Shaw, survive. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Gaskill residence.—Call.

Farewell Party.

The New Idea club tendered Jas. J. Wright a farewell reception at the M. E. parsonage last Tuesday evening. Attorney Caldwell, made a speech calling attention to Mr. Wright's worth as a citizen and active member of the club, and presented him with a beautiful sample of the printers' art which he might have occasion to make practical use of in the future. Souvenir cards containing a guessing contest were distributed, and W. M. Perry Jr., carried away the honors of this contest; Rev. Winning brought up in the rear and captured the consolation prize. Mr. Wright will leave for Oakland early next week, and will later take his departure for Goldfield, Nevada, where he has secured a position in the office of W. L. Cox & Co., brokers. The members of the New Idea club all join in wishing him good speed and good luck in his new field.

Pleaded Guilty.

The highwayman who held up the Plymouth stage on April 24, had his examination before Justice Goldner last Saturday. He was bound over to answer to the superior court, being unable to give a bond of $3000. His case came up before Judge Rust on Monday of this week. He told the court that he did not wish to have counsel, and entered a plea of guilty, wisely arriving at the conclusion that to defend the charge would be folly and thereby perhaps save future time. He gave his true name as James William Martin. The prisoner was born in this state, is 27 years of age, and has lived in Calaveras county the greater part of his life, having his home at Railroad Flat, where a wife and family now reside. The criminal instinct seems to run in the family, for he has a father in one of our state prisoners, sentenced to life imprisonment for murder committed years ago. Martin will be sentenced to-morrow.

Lawyer is to Take a Bride.

The engagement is announced of Maurice E. Finn, a prominent young attorney of this city, and Miss Mary Norman, of Jackson, Amador county. The wedding will take place some time next Fall on a date not yet set.

Miss Norman is a popular resident of Jackson, and is the daughter of sheriff Norman of Amador county. She is a graduate of Mills Seminary, and is an accomplished young woman. Mr. Finn is a graduate of Harvard University. He has been practicing law in Sacramento during the last two years.—Sacramento Bee.

Use Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. Children like its pleasant taste, and mothers give it hearty endorsement. Contains no opiates, but drives out the cold through the bowels. Made in strict conformity to Pure Food and Drugs Law. Recommended and sold by F. W. Rubser.

Will Ship Sulphurets.

Hereafter the Zella sulphurets will be shipped to Selby's for reduction. The chlorination works at the mine have not resumed work since the shutdown on account of the increased flow of water incident to the flood. It is not intended to start them again. The supply of wood is uncertain, also of oil for fuel. And by shipping them below the net result is fully as satisfactory as the home treatment. This shutdown throws fire men out of employment. No concentrates have been shipped so far, but hauling will commence probably this week.

Handsomeness at Hospital.

The hospital superintendent with the help of some of the patients and J. Levy, has completed a new fence around the main buildings. The base is of cement, and at the proper distances iron post have been set in this foundation. Between the posts iron wire is used, the whole being very substantial. The only paid labor was that of the mason who laid the cement. The fence has cost, material and labor, $208.95. Aside from this cement steps and a landing costing $12, making a total of $220.95. The superintendent being a practical blacksmith, did all that class of work with a helper. An itemized bill of costs will be presented to the board at its next meeting, and the supervisors will no doubt be surprised to learn that a picket fence, lasting but a few years, would cost a sum considerably in excess to the one just started.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative-Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

Correction.

We fell in an error last week in stating that Perkovich and Churich, who were fined last week for fighting in the street on the Jackson Gate road, were boarders from the Savich boarding house on the Hamilton track, near by the scene of hostilities. Mr. Savich says that neither of the men was a boarder of his, and that the disturbance was in no way connected with his house. The belligerents happened to meet in the street near his place, and the battle was on. We are pleased to make this correction.

Birthday Party.

A very pleasant birthday party was given at Amador City last Saturday in honor of the arrival of Miss Lucy Chichizola at the age of ten years. Many friends of the little maid were invited, and a goodly gathering was present from Jackson, Sutter Creek, and her own home town. The young people assembled at the young lady's home in Amador City, and during the morning hours the merry-makers repaired to the picnic grounds on Chichizola's ranch, near the Bunker Hill mine. There games and amusements were enjoyed, and a dainty luncheon was eagerly and appreciatively disposed of. Ice cream, cakes, sandwiches, fruit and other appropriate eatables constituted the bill of fare. Dainty souvenirs were given to each of the little guests, and as the evening hours approached the company reluctantly scattered to their homes, after wishing their little hostess every appropriate congratulation, and voting the occasion a most enjoyable success.

Those present were: Misses Amy and May Gordon, Miss Alma Trethway, Misses Ruth and Gertrude Harrington, Master Emerson and Scott Harrington and Augustus Marre of Jackson; Miss Mildred Ousby of Kennedy; Misses Helen McGee and Helen Downs of Sutter Creek; Misses Helen McLaughlin, Hilda Harris, Fay Gorton, Irene Garibaldi, Irene Gatten, Eva Curran, Lizzie and Olive Venning, Florence Arthur, Jessie Richards, Masters Philip Perryman, Danlap Culbert, Willie Richards and Clyde Williams of Amador; also Mrs. E. Marre, Mrs. E. H. Harrington and Miss Emma Boardman of Jackson; Mrs. I. A. Chichizola and Misses Lucy and Mary Chichizola.

A Forgotten Cache of Coin.

A story from Volcano reaches us showing man's greed. It is somewhat late in being made public, but is true nevertheless. Residents of that town have known an old-timer, Louis Bowman, by name. He was a miner by occupation and accumulated a small fortune—enough to supply all his wants during life. His cabin was on the roadside, and not far from the Downs mine, and it was his home until he could no longer take care of himself. During the past winter he was compelled to take refuge in the county hospital, and abandoned the place so many years called home to any who might wish to enter. Besides the infirmities of old age he had partially lost his mind. After leaving his cabin which was no longer of any use to him, it was taken possession of by a man called "Dutchy" by the people of Volcano.

The new tenant was there but a short time before he found about $1200 in coin among some old sacks; coin which had been secreted by the former owner. The recollections of this money had completely left Bowman's mind. He left contented as far as thinking there was any money around the old home. "Dutchy" was no sooner in possession of his findings than he commenced to invest; first having a celebration of a liquid nature all to himself. It did not all go that way, however, for knowing ones say that he went to Ione and bought a team for $200. What he did with the balance no one seems to know, but he did not return to Volcano, and his present whereabouts are unknown. Bowman, from ones who know him, say he bears a good reputation for honesty. He is 80 years of age, and on more than one occasion has asked superintendent Le Moine to write to one of the merchants of Volcano requesting a remittance of what money he has on deposit. The condition of his mind has in no way improved since becoming a hospital patient, and it is probable that he will die without ever being able to realize this loss.
